

MULTIDIRECTIONAL ROUTER

ABSTRACT

The present invention is directed to a system and method for providing multidirectional routing. The present invention may provide an arbitrary number of routing layers and an arbitrary direction on each of those layers to provide a smaller die size and to reduce power consumption by providing more flexibility for net routing directions.